

Hamilton Convention.

The district convention which assembled at Hamilton yesterday, was well attended, and its deliberations were characterized by great harmony and good feelings. We have scarcely ever attended a meeting where there might have been room for difference of opinion, that was so unanimous in all its proceedings. The feeling was strongly and irresistibly for Judge Douglas. Even the few who preferred some other man as a first choice for the Charleston nomination expressed great good feeling for Judge Douglas and submitted to the decision of an overwhelming majority, with true democratic patriotism. The delegates selected are, all of them, staunch democrats, and will, in any emergency, vote for the best interests of their constituents and of the whole country. We say to the Charleston Convention, give us a good man, upon a good "popular sovereignty" platform,—"a candidate whose life and position, upon the questions of the day, upon the subject of popular sovereignty is an embodiment of the sentiment of the liberal democracy of the country, and who can command the enthusiasm of the West, and we will elect him triumphantly.

We are sure the next president must either be a liberal, progressive Democrat or a Black Republican, therefore let the south the north, the east, and all the "rest of mankind" take notice and act accordingly.

The Tide For Douglas

The force of the opposition clamor is being spent against Senator Douglas, while if other Democratic aspirants for the Presidential office are at all mentioned, it is for the purpose of showing that their chances for the nomination by the Charleston Convention are infinitely superior to his. If Douglas has no possible chance to get the nomination, and could not be elected by the people if he should get it, why do the opposition so persistently abuse him? Why do they expend all their ammunition upon him, if he is so completely harmless in a political point of view?

Just in proportion as it is indicated by the Democracy in their individual capacity, or through their primary conventions, that they favor the nomination of the Illinois Senator for President, the Opposition press abuse him. Their purpose is easily divined; feeling that he is at the present time the choice of the masses of the democratic party for President, they are laboring to get him down. The task is rather discouraging; for the more they misrepresent, abuse and vilify him, the brighter his prospects become. If they improve as steadily between this and the meeting of the convention as they have during the last six months, there will be little question as to who will be nominated at Charleston.

We are for the nominee of the Charleston Convention, no matter who he may be. We have confidence to believe that the delegates to that body will do what they conceive best for the party and interests of the whole country; but we cannot ignore the signs of the times while considering the question of "who will be nominated?"

We desire that the will of the people be obeyed by their representatives at Charleston; we will acquiesce in their choice. At present the voice of the people, as well as the clamor of the opposition, indicate that Douglas is the "man for the times," and there is no sense in denying it. What the interim between this and the sitting of the convention may bring forth, we cannot divine; but we believe the democracy will be found equal to any emergency which may be sprung upon them. In the mean time let "Harmony" be the watchword of the Democracy, and let every democrat go to work with a determination to elect the "nominee of the Charleston Convention."

The Washington States and Union, has the following items:

The despatches from General Scott we believe to be of as quiet assuring nature. No reasonable man expects that a speedy satisfactory solution of the San Juan difference will be arrived at.

The term of Governor Wiles expires the first Monday of January. He has disposed of his estate in Accomack, and will locate himself permanently near Richmond, Va. John Letcher will succeed him as Governor of Virginia, the first Monday in January.

It is believed that the election of a Senator by Texas to fill the unexpired term of the late General Rusk, will not take place until after the inauguration of General Houston. He has been named himself a candidate for the position, and it is said that a majority, in both branches of the Legislature, is favorable to his election.

Kansas will be here at an early day of the session for admission. Of course, there will be no objection urged against her entrance. It is supposed that she contains largely over one hundred thousand inhabitants.

A distinguished arrival—A letter from Paris says:

A distinguished visitor has arrived to the Emperor and Empress. The Russian Grand Duchess Marie, widow of the Emperor Napoleon's first cousin, the Duc de Leuchtenberg (son of the late Emperor Alexander), but who has since the death of her husband, married "by the left hand" a simple Russian Count. Her arrival at the Hotel du Louvre, on Friday last, caused an immense sensation. No fewer than fifty rooms had been engaged for her and her suite, and the police officers who had charge of her baggage from the railroad terminus to the hotel were heard to say, on delivering it over to the people of the hotel, "One hundred and ten pieces" (suits, boxes, etc.). She is, as you know, sister of the Emperor of Russia, celebrated as an Anti English politician and is even suspected of being the bearer of a verbal communication from her brother to the Emperor Napoleon.

HORRIBLE WIFE MURDER.—The Boston Journal learns from a correspondent, that a horrible murder was committed last Friday night at Woodville, New Hampshire. Mr. Frank Wright struck his wife a severe blow in the back with a large knife. She succeeded in making her escape, and with the blood running down her back, rushed across the bridge to Wells River, where help was procured. On returning to the house, it was found that he had murdered his wife—literally cut her open and taken out her heart. He was under the influence of rum, and was at once taken into close custody. The girl's wound is not considered dangerous, though she had bled profusely.

MURDERER ARRESTED.—A thief, named Jones, was last Sunday, identified in Detroit, by Officer William Cuthbert, of Pickering, Ontario county, O. W., as one John Barry, who had, in that township, last summer, murdered a fellow-harvester named Haregan. The circumstances of the murder were these: While the two harvesters were returning to their homes in company, they met a man named James Gibson, whose sister in law Barry wished to marry. Gibson gave Barry to understand that he was not good enough for her, but that she had an admirer who was much more respectable. Haregan then spoke, and agreed with Gibson in what he said, when Barry drew a knife and stabbed him four times—in the back, left shoulder, breast, and abdomen—and then made his escape. Haregan lingered until the morning of the 7th of December, and then expired.
